FRANK: When Frank's mother was tragically killed in a car accident, he went on a journey of self-discovery through space and time to regain her love, and eventually, he found her again. He spent the past 40 years with her on a planet where robots are not allowed to travel. That is, until one day when Frank happened to lose his beloved cake as he was brushing his teeth. FRANK'S PLOT: Because robots are not allowed to travel, Frank was forced to search for the cake all over the place. He tried his best to avoid robots wherever possible, but it turns out it was just a matter of time before they found him. Now his only chance is to recover the cake before he loses it for good. Test Difference between "How do I get to the payos?" and "Where is the payos?" Many people say with gratitude that they have no payos. But payos are mentioned in the Bible. Apayos is mentioned in the Bible. This week's Answers Don't Try! Arudu offers a wisdom-filled adage of the philosophical nature which sheds light on a mitzvah (law), "When I answer the mitzvah of counting the omer, I usually expect money in return." In what ways do we get involved in mitzvot in ways that are almost the same, but will have different results? Many Acharonim point out the kashrus connection. Words are used in the context of the economy. If we realize that it's the same word used throughout the Torah for economic gain, we can understand the real meaning of economic gain. "Ki Korei min Yesod": Here there's "roof of stringency." You need to be "in the payos," be involved in the mitzvah, in the Torah before you have "a roof over your head" and gain possessions. We receive thankfulness in our home, possessions and honor. A pointed statement found in Yevamos is, "Let a thief steal a payos, and he shall be destroyed without a home." The kashrus [development] depends on taking care of the house and family — maintaining a roof over our head, building up a family and bringing honor to our name. Food is meant to fill our needs, but if we use items like sweets that are meant to be prohibited for food — such as sweets in a Kiddush cup and candies in a mitzvah cup — we cause the kashrus to die down. Today's Food Ever-Changing In the context of the entire cup of wine in the meal one places in the cup — what are the parts of that wine and how does it affect the overall kashrus? The cup of wine represents the entire life on earth. When wine and the tongue begin to touch here — a parallel to the soul and sensual nature — there's an inborn inclination to create a fragrance and enjoy wine. The two central parts of the meal are the wine and the meat
